

WE NOMINATE

Henry Stuart Patterson II, the newly-retired Mayor of the Borough of Princeton, who over the past eight years as the 53rd Princetonian to serve as the municipality's chief executive has done a superb job in bridging the abyss between Princeton Past and Princeton Future. In entering upon what he terms a period to "sit and think," and to spend more time with his wife and four children, this former president of the New Jersey Conference of Mayors recalls the individual whose "very presence changes the face of affairs and conjures up hope that the years-to-come will be more rewarding because we have learned so much from the present."

Nine long years ago, in campaigning against incumbent Raymond F. Male, whom he handily defeated, Patterson, now 47, stressed: "I am opposed to consolidation" of Borough and Township. Yet eight years later, in his 1969 New Year's Address, he came out strongly in favor of consolidating the two governments. While subsequent studies have shown that it is still impracticable for the Borough — from the point of view of equalizing taxes and tax-bases — to merge with the booming Township, it is Patterson's contention that "we must realize that we have to move this way — toward consolidation."

In a recent newspaper interview Patterson emphasized that no single Princetonian can claim "as accomplishments" all that's been done in Princeton in the 1960's. However, he rightfully enjoys touching upon the drastically needed new Borough Hall, the new Joint Library, the extension of Wiggins Street, the Joint Recreation Commission, the initial approach to Regional Planning, the Civil Rights Commission, the emergence of a Regional School System and the ongoing development of the Witherspoon Street Youth Center. And, with characteristic candor, he is the first to admit that "it's getting worse and worse on Nassau Street."

It is highly unlikely that Patterson, in a sense the spokesman for Princetonians who have planted roots here in the past two decades, will ever receive a more spontaneous tribute than he did late in 1964 after his initial success at the polls. He was interviewed in his Westcott Road home by a reporter who had campaigned against him as a Democratic Committeewoman in a town-up Borough District. She concluded her profile: "After two hours of animated talk, off the record and on, I told him I thought he had won because he is his own man and that I was sorry and I had not voted for him."

As an executive of the Elizabethtown Water Company, which in 1962 acquired control of the old Princeton Water Company, Patterson has been a "driving commutator" between the Borough and Elizabeth, logging some 15,000 miles annually. His background includes High Honors in Economics as a member of the Princeton Class of 1941, World War II service as an air observer with the Field Artillery and now a near-perfect record when it came to the myriad meetings and news conferences that were an integral part of his congested life in the 1960's.

For his achievements as the most compelling personality in Princeton public life in the 1960's; for confirming the hope, even in the early days of his "retirement," that here "is a corner in Jersey;" for coping realistically with the issues confronting the Borough, the Township and the area they dominate; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

POLLUTED BATHTUB?

Regional Sewer Needed.
"We're all sitting in one great big bathtub and polluted water running downhill, doesn't recognize town lines."

Bluntly spoken, that's the way Pastor Jacobs, chairman of the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Group, sees the present sewer situation in Princeton and environs.

"It's unthinkable to go on the way we are," Mr. Jacobs says flatly, about Princeton's ancient and inadequate sewer pipes.

The "one great big bathtub," of course, is the Stony Brook drainage basin. The "we" is all the people who live in the seven municipalities that have banded together to form the Regional Sewerage Group.

That's Princeton Borough, Princeton Township, Hopewell, Hightstown, West Windsor and South Brunswick.

The new treatment plant proposed by Metcalf and Eddy, the consulting engineering firm, would be built in Princeton Township next to the creaking old Joint Sewer Operating plant that is there now.

The new plant, engineers say, would reduce pollution by 97%.

But scrubbing the great big bathtub 97% cleaner will cost money. It will, however, cost a lot less for everybody if the towns band together, than if everybody decides to go it alone.

For example, The engineers estimate a 1972 cost for Princeton Borough of $253,000 under a Regional Sewerage system. Alone, Princeton Borough would have to pay about $324,000.

For Princeton Township, the 1972 cost is estimated at $278,000 under the Regional plan, contrasted to $425,000 if the Township acts alone. West Windsor would pay $168,000, against $340,000 on the lone basis; Hopewell, with the Regional plan, would pay $16,000 as opposed to $92,000, and so on.

Overall construction cost is estimated at $34,016,000. Of that, 60% would come from a combined Federal-state grants; the rest from a bond issue floated by a Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority. Except for land purchase, all construction costs are eligible for Federal-state money under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act and the New Jersey Water Pollution Control Act.

Actually, engineers say the Region is eligible for 80% of the costs but there is a shortage of Federal funds.

The precise dollar cost to each taxpayer? It's too early to tell.

On December 29, Borough Council and Township Committee met to talk about the best way to allocate costs. Metcalf and Eddy engineers recommend charging each municipality on the basis of flow. But is there a better way?

the picture and created as a consumer just like everybody else. The Borough would be left holding the bag, in a sense, where the University's Borough primery is concerned.

Probably the Borough would levy a sewer tax on each property owner (including the University, Westminster Choir College, churches, etc.). The Township has such a tax now.

One thing is certain about costs: they don't go down. The Metcalf and Eddy report estimates an 11% rise in construction costs from 1968. Mr. Jacobs says 12% a year is a "realistic" estimate. He wishes municipal governments would act . . . fast.

The next step is for Princeton Borough and Township and any two other Regional municipalities to pass resolutions which will allow work to go ahead in detailed engineering plans.

Borough officials say they hope for a final action "early this year." Township officials warn that the municipal budget work has priority and that it may be February or March before the resolution can be passed.

Do We Get Money? How does anybody know that New Jersey will come across with the 60%?

"The state is only allowing Princeton's sewer system to continue in operation because this Regional Sewerage plan is in the works," Mr. Jacobs warns. "If the Regional proposals collapse, the state will move in and order us to act on our own."

Every time Princeton builds a new sewer or extends an old one, Mr. Jacobs says, a state permit is required. And for the past five years, the state has granted permits to Princeton only "upon the promise" that Princeton's Joint Sewer Operating Committee "will apply themselves diligently to bringing the sewer plant up to standard."

The permits say that either a Regional or a go-it-alone approach would suffice, but the state much prefers a Regional System.

In fact, that 60% contribution to construction costs is only available if the Regional plan goes into effect.

If Princeton—or any other municipality—decides to pull out of the seven town Regional group and carry on alone, the state would simply say "Sorry, boys, no cash."

Incidentally, Princeton University cannot legally be a part of the Regional Sewerage Group or Authority. It would simply be a customer, says Mr. Jacobs, like everybody else.

The present Joint Sewer Operating Committee would probably maintain the sewer system to maintain the lateral sewer lines that wouldn't be part of the Regional system, and to run the dump and the incinerator.

It's difficult for the average Princeton householder to become aroused about the need for a new sewer system and a new treatment plant. Everybody can see and feel other municipal problems: traffic on Nassau Street, an antiquated high school.

But sewers?

Unless you live around Hightstown Road and are awakened at night by sewer stench, unless you happen to know that Princeton's sewer plant has opened sluice drying beds, and that dry sludge is buried in the dump—a method probably used by Alexander the Great—you may shrug the problem off.

Lake Carnegie, after all, doesn't look as foul as it is. Neither does Stony Brook.

So Pennington and Hopewell have sewer problems. Why should Princeton ball them out?

"Because," Mr. Jacobs repeats, "foul water running down hill doesn't stop at the town line; it pollutes Princeton."

"One way or another, Princeton must do something," states Township Mayor John D. Wallace, "and the Regional plan offers us savings, compared to going it alone."

Call 921-9480 for Ice Conditions

Don't call the Borough or Township police to find out the condition of the ice on Carnegie Lake. You won't get it anymore.

The number to call is 921-9480—the number of the Princeton Recreation Department, which is responsible for such information. To handle the rash of calls, R. Donald Barr, recreation director, reports that a Code-A-Phone has been installed in the recreation office.

"Call any time," he said, "24 hours a day, seven days a week." When someone is not in the office, a recording will describe the current condition of the ice and where it is safe to skate.

Aside from the nuisance of so many calls—Township police received 240 alone on Friday—was the possible safety threat. Chief James B. Campbell Jr. of the Township reported, "We have only two incoming lines; we have access to others going out, but only these two coming in, and if they are tied up as they were Friday then people trying to reach us in an emergency may have to wait. It's a dangerous situation."

ing Princeton Theological Seminary's plans for about 30 houses, arranged cluster-fashion on Mt. Lucas Road.

Only a small disharmony sounded in the evening. Borough representative Robert van de Velde protested the appointment of William Miller as attorney to the board.

He objected to the presentation of only one candidate, adding that he was not familiar with Mr. Miller's qualifications in the field of planning, and of tried to produce some other names. His offer was accepted, and appointment of a council was deferred.

Gordon Griffin, municipal attorney for both Borough and Township, has declined to advise the new joint board. He cites a ruling by the Ethics Committee of the State Supreme Court which bars New Jersey attorneys from serving a municipality and its planning board at the same time.

Plan Ahead. The new board's chief responsibility, as blocked out by law, is to work on a Master Plan and the largest subcommittee is dedicated to that goal.

Its Borough members are Mayor Cawley, James Andrew, Arthur Morgan, William H. Walker and Mr. Williams. Its Township members are James Poff, Gerald Breese, Joseph R. Nini, William Soplin and Mr. Sander.

The basic spirit of the board is reflected in its organization," observed Mr. Williams. He pointed to a Subdivision Sub-committee weighted on the Township side because most subdivisions are in the Township, and a Site Review subcommittee weighted with Borough members because Borough site reviews previously was done by all members of the old Borough Planning Commission.

The Township has its own separate site plan committee. A representative from the municipality sits on each subcommittee.

Site Review members are Bryan Moore and Mr. Walker for the Borough with Mr. Sander as the Township member. Sub division members are

An Institutions Subcommittee, which will welcome communications from Princeton's various institutions, consists of Arthur Morgan (Borough) and T. Bernard Fidler (Township). "These are all trial balloons," Mr. Sander said. "We may change the organization as time goes on."

Future board actions may include appointing a Citizens Advisory Committee, hiring a planner-consultant and naming liaison with two local planning agencies, the Regional Development Association and the Mercer-Somerset-Middlesex Planning Council plus state and county planners.

The Township's Open Space Commission has asked to have a member sit in on Regional Planning Board meetings and the board agreed. The representative will be James Sayen, who has attended Township Planning Board meetings in the same capacity.

MACY'S BUYS LAND
Township's Mall Project. R. H. Macy & Co. this week became the owner of a 17½-acre tract of land near the State motor vehicle inspection station bordering U.S. 1. The acquisition is a further step toward Macy's previously announced plans to build a $30 million shopping mall on 165 acres in Lawrence Township.

Seller in the transaction involving the 17½ acres was the State of New Jersey through its Department of Conservation and Economic Development. The State retains other holdings in the area.

Macy's is understood to hold the necessary options to buy the rest of the land earmarked for the big project. The complex will be centered at Route 1 and Quakerbridge Road. Department stores reportedly planning to become a part of the mall include Bonberger's, which Macy's owns; Sears & Roebuck, Strawbridge & Clothier and J. C. Penny.

community, and regional planning is required." His prepared text read "regional planning is needed," but in speaking, Mayor Cawley substituted the stronger word.

Mayor Wallace said "We continue to feel that the residents of the community will be better served for the long run if we are but one Community." He commended efforts of state officials who hope to redefine "antiquated consolidation laws and the whole structure of county government. We are hopeful these studies will prove fruitful."

Mayors Cawley and Wallace joined in supporting revision of state tax laws, stating that the present municipal tax system strains municipal government "to the breaking point."

Patterson Praised. Both mayors also spoke with highest praise of former Mayor Patterson.

In the Township, Mayor Wallace called him "an unusually gifted and skilled public official. . . . We hope that his unusual talents will continue to be available to us."

In the Borough, Mayor Cawley spoke of Mr. Patterson's "outstanding service as mayor" and predicted that his eight years in office will be remembered "as a period of leadership in confronting some of the difficult human problems like drug abuse, civil rights and special youth needs." (For the complete text of Mayor Cawley's address, see page 3.)

TOPICS Of The Town

A NEW YEAR BEGINS

In Town Government. Robert W. Cawley was sworn in as mayor of the Borough of Princeton in traditional New Year's Day ceremonies in Borough Hall. Retiring mayor Henry S. Patterson administered the oath of office and Mayor Cawley's daughter Joan held the Bible.

Simultaneously, across Princeton's invisible line, Mayor John D. Wallace was re-elected chairman of Township Committee by his fellow Committeemen, and thereby became Mayor of Princeton Township for the second year. William L. Wilson was elected deputy mayor, and Dean Chace took his seat as a new Committeeman, replacing Harry J. Volkwieder.

In the Borough the junction that might have kept Charles Cornforth from his council seat did not materialize and, with his granddaughter holding the Bible in family-style Princeton tradition, Mr. Cornforth took the oath. Robert Hendry took the oath for his second term with two of his four children holding the Bible.

Martin P. Lombardo, who lost to Mr. Cornforth by one vote, according to a court decision, had considered obtaining an injunction to keep Mr. Cornforth from taking his Council seat. (For more on Mr. Lombardo, see following story.)

Republican Mr. Cornforth was nominated for the post of Council president by Republican Councilman Fred Peterson. In an unexpected move, Democratic Councilman James Andrews then nominated Democratic Councilman Alice Male for the position.

In the voting ritual that followed, the three Republican and three Democratic Councilmen took their places in the party line. This meant that Mayor Cawley, after only a few minutes in office, found himself casting his very first tie-breaking vote. He voted for his Republican colleague, and Mr. Cornforth became Council president.

It might have been otherwise. Only two days before, Mr. Peterson was on vacation in Florida. If he had not returned, the balance would have tipped for the Democrats. Not only would Mrs. Male have been elected Council president, but all of Mayor Cawley's appointees to various municipal posts could have been voted down.

Two Mayors Speak. In New Year's Day addresses, both Republican mayors pledged continuing harmony and co-operation between Borough and Township.

Speaking of the new-born Regional Planning Board, Mayor Cawley said the board "is committed to the fundamental idea that this is one

Highlights from Mayor Wallace's address:
• Township Committee is "most anxious" for the board of health "to expand its horizons", and has asked the board for a "definitive statement" about member of the Borough board. "We are hopeful that they will find significant benefits to a merged board."

• "We are anxious to move ahead" on low and middle income housing.

• The new Citizens Housing Council will discuss with the new Regional Planning Board a comprehensive Princeton wide housing survey.

• Detailed recommendations for improving "the Shopping Center traffic mess" are under study.

• Money to support the Child Guidance drug program will be in the 1970 municipal budget.

Highlights from Mayor Caw-ley's address (which appears in full on page 32):

• The mayor "expects"
further Borough involvement in the drug problem.

• The Borough should "get more of our black citizens involved in the main stream of our community."

• Planning for the central business district, and for parking, traffic and transportation
"will get top priority."

• Borough government will be involved "more and more" in services beyond the standard ones, but such involvement should only be of temporary duration and catalytic in nature.

• On the University, "I feel we should prevent our Borough viewpoint forcefully to gain cooperation. On some items we may divide that the advantages the University brings us outweigh certain social disadvantages."

APPEAL STILL PLANNED

By Lombardo, Martin P.
Lombardo still says he will appeal the decision of Superior Court Judge George Barlow that Charles Cornforth won a seat on Borough Council over Mr. Lombardo by a single vote.

However, by TOWN TOP-ICS press time, Mr. Lombardo had not yet filed his appeal with the clerk of the Apellate Division of Superior Court.

Judge Barlow ruled in favor of Mr. Cornforth on the basis of the nine discarded absentee ballots. The Mercer County Board of Elections had already ruled on the remaining five.

Mr. Lombardo says he is not entirely disturbed by Judge Barlow's comment, that he would have denied one of those five ballots to Mr. Cornforth if he had a chance to rule on it.
(See page 10, page 13.)

Mr. Lombardo has 15 days to file his appeal. He said on New Year's Day in Borough Hall that he would ask the court for a quick decision. It is customary, in election disputes, to accelerate the court's decision.
A spokesman for the court said.

DOBSON WITHDRAWS

From School Race, Dr. Warren Dobson has withdrawn as a candidate for the Township's two-year seat on the Princeton Regional School Board. This leaves four people contesting for the seat.

Dr. Dobson, a dentist, who teaches at the Shady Side, said he withdrew because, when he filed, he did not feel that his point of view was being represented among the candidates.

"Subsequently, however, two additional candidates filed with whom I found myself in substantial agreement," he said. "I feel it is wiser to withdraw to increase our chances of winning, rather than to proceed and jeopardize all our chances."

The two candidates to whom he refers, he said, are Dr.
Philip Cruickshank and Oran do Petrowich. Dr. Dobson said that he agreed with both of the candidates in being "very critical of the present school administration."

"I feel—and I am sure those two candidates also feel—that the proposed budget is way out of line and must be revised in a serious degree, particularly in the area of administrative costs. For example, 50 people are employed in Special Services—just what are they doing, anyway?"

"And I feel strongly that these two candidates favor, as I do, major revisions in the Wednesday Program, for example," he said.

Broadly, Dr. Dobson said, he believes in traditional, rather than experimental forms of education.

Deadline for withdrawing from the school race was 4 p.m. last Friday. Dr. Dobson withdrew earlier in the day.

CENTER IN COURT

For Next Round, Another session in the Princeton Shopping Center court case is scheduled for this Friday before Superior Court Judge
Frank J. Kingfield.

The judge has asked George Warnecke, owner of the Center, for an account of "substantial expenditures" made berger's addition which Mr.

Warnecke had wanted to build.

The judge has said that if Mr. Warnecke spent enough of this money after he got his 1967, he might not have to submit his plans to the Township's site plan review board.

POLLUTION!
Town Meeting entitled "Pollution!" has been announced for 2 p.m., Sunday, January 18, in Alexander Hall, by Dr. Peter Putnam, chairman of the Princeton Committee on National Priorities, sponsor of the event.

The Committee is an outgrowth of the Peace Movement and the meeting is being sponsored jointly by the Princeton chapters of the Vietnam Moratorium Committee, United World Federalists, Fellowship of Reconciliation, the Open Space Commission, the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association, National Recreation Association, Sierra Club, and the Pastors' Association.

Henry Patterson, former Borough Mayor will be chairman of the meeting. The panel will consist of: Richard Thorsell of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association who will discuss local problems of pollution and the way in which the individual citizen contributes to them.

Also, Gary Soucie of Friend of the Earth will survey national problems of conservation and summarize recent legislative and other action in the field. Marvin Goldberger of the Princeton University Department of Physics will describe the recent team survey in which he took part to determine the ecological consequences of the Miami Jesport for the Everglades.

The sponsors hope that these present will question the panel and perhaps some expression of the sense of the meeting may occur which will indicate the need for further exploration of such subjects as: general opposition to jetports, SST's excessive noise and destructive effects, air pollution as it alters the weather and changes the temperature of the land and the ocean and the structure of ocean life, urban blight, housing, bulldozer economy, population, education and mass transportation.

THREE ARE ARRESTED

After Entering Home A combined force of Borough and Township police arrested three teenage boys Saturday night, after they allegedly entered the home of S.I. Cheng, 379 Prospect Avenue, a professor of aeronautical engineering at Princeton University.

In Mercer County Jail in lieu of $3,000 bail is Theodore Thompson Jr., 16, of New Brunswick. He has been charged with burglary, larceny, possession of a stolen car and possession of articles stolen from the home of Elwood W. Phares, 72 Arreton Road, on New Year's Day.

Also, David R. Porter, 18, of Somerset. He has been charged with conspiracy to commit burglary, possession of a stolen car and possession of a Turkish knife taken from the Phares' home. His bail was set at $1,500.

Police identified the third youth as a 17-year-old Franklin Township juvenile. He was taken to the juvenile detention center at the county jail to await action by juvenile authorities.

The car which the youths were driving had been stolen in Piscataway Township, police said. In it, they found a stereo amplifier and speakers allegedly taken from the Cheng home and jewelry and cash with a total value of $350.

Township police were called to the scene by a neighbor about 6 p.m. The youths fled the unoccupied house in their car. Giving pursuit, Ptl. William Potts radioed Borough police that he was in a high-

DINNER DANCE PLANNED
Byrd Fund to Benefit Stu-dents attending Princeton High School will benefit from funds raised at the ninth annual dinner dance sponsored by the Elizabeth Taylor Byrd Fund Inc. and planned for Valen-tine's Day, Saturday, Febru-ary 14.

Last year the fund gave four scholarships totaling $1,700, to students now attending college. In addition it loaned $630 to other students in college, gave $400 to the Princeton Middle School French Department to aid two students to travel to France, and made an annual contribution to the YWCA of $300.

Information concerning the dinner dance may be obtained by contacting any of the members of the Fund. Mrs. David H. Taylor is president.

Other officers are Mrs. George Geary, vice-president; Mrs. John Brown, secretary; Mrs. Alexander Hoagland, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert Wright, treasurer; Mrs. James Briscoe, program chairman; Mrs. A. Ellis Jr., scholarship chairman; Mrs. Frederick Burcell, finance chairman; Mrs. Floyd Camp-bell, membership chairman; and Mrs. Virginia Ezell, Mrs. Raymond Male, James Ward and the Rev. Harold Thomas.

ROUND TWO THURSDAY
For Princeton Inn. At a special meeting to be held Thurs-day evening at 8 in Borough Hall, the Borough Zoning Board will hear for the first time Princeton University's plans to convert the Princeton Inn into a dormitory for 330 girls.

University officials were scheduled to appear before the board last December 18 — the same night they appeared ear-lier before the Township Zon-ing Board — but they were told to come back when other cases the board had heard ran later than expected. Jon D. Hafter, Director of Physical Planning for the University, must answer to both boards because the Township Bor-ough line cuts through the mid-dle of the Inn.

The University must return to the Township board because 29 of the Inn's rooms are sub-standard as far as Township requirements are concerned. Most violate light and air mea-surements.

From the Borough Board, the University is seeking a con-ditional use authorization, bulk variances and a variance re-garding the location of park-ing. Two hundred of the 330 proposed residents would live in the Borough side of the Inn.

POLICE CHARGE MAN
With Stolen Coat Possession.
A 23-year old Lytle Street man has been charged by Borough police with possession of stolen property.

Paul Robeson, 15 Lytle, was taken to Mercer County Jail Monday night in lieu of $500 bail, after he had been charged by police. He was arrested on Witherspoon Street about 11 a.m. that morning by Sgt. Theodore Lewis and Ptl. Anthony Randone. At the time, Robeson was wearing a brown leather coat that allegedly had been stolen with three others early Christmas morning from the display window of Langrock's, 42 Nassau Street.

Taken to police headquar-ters, Robeson refused to an-swer questions. The manager of Langrock's came to the quar-ters and identified the coat as one that had been stolen, police said. Bail for Rob-eson was set by Judge The-odore T. Tams Jr.

TEENAGERS ARRESTED
In Campus Student Center.
Three Borough youths have been charged with breaking and entering by Borough police after they were apprehended Thursday evening inside the student center on the Princeton University campus. One was also charged with possession of narcotics.

Arrested by Ptl. Charles Har-ris and Ptl. James Agins around 8 p.m. were Alfred Van Liew, 19, 99 Leigh Ave-nue; Steven Woolford, 16, 120 Witherspoon Street; and Cour-teney Irving, 18, 35 Clay Street.

A Presentation of McCarter's NEW CINEMA Series

News Of The THEATRES

"FIREBUGS" OPENS

In Repertory. Toward the end of "The Firebugs" on opening night, as red and white "fire" lights were playing about the McCarter auditorium and a canned siren was wailing offstage, a lady in the audience rose suddenly and left the theatre, apparently in panic.

Do not infer from this, however, that Max Frisch's play is exciting beyond endurance. On the contrary. "The Firebugs" is a tame evening. Unless you have prophophia, as the lady apparently did, you won't walk out on the play, but you won't rush back into the burning building to see it again, either.

It's a play, an allegory if you will, about today's world. In particular, it's about fat-headed liberals who travel life's road with good intentions and end up at the famous terminal of that road.

"You have to have absolute trust in people — you can't go on living in fear," says Gerd Liech Biedermann, as he bustles about making things comfy for the arsonist who is about to destroy him.

Welcome, Stranger. Herr Biedermann has taken into his home a stranger, a writer named Sepp who is hungry and has no place to sleep. The stranger criticizes the temperance of the wine, pays a grudging compliment to the cheese and consumes both. Also strangling his fuses happily, he prepares to consume Herr Biedermann.

The stranger's boss, a waiter named Willi, moves in too, and gasoline drums begin to line the Biedermann attic.

"Don't smoke in here!" warns Willi sharply, as his chuckle-headed host prepares to light a cigar. Willi, by the way, has an ominously Satanic way about him. (Wait 'til the Epilogue comes along.)

We watch, then, for two acts while preparations for burning up the Biedermann house move forward briskly: detonators are attached, gasoline drums are stacked with careful affection, fuses arranged.

A Greek chorus of seven firemen stomps about chanting various homilies. Biedermann orders a servant to remove silver from the table before the play ends.

Lillian Gish Will Lecture on "The Movies"

Lillian Gish, legendary but still briskly alive to the film in today's world, will speak in Princeton on Monday, February 9, at 8:30 in M. Carier Theatre.

She is appearing for the benefit of the English Speaking Union, and tickets should be ordered by January 15. Applications, with checks for $5, may be sent to the English Speaking Union, Princeton Branch, care of Alfred O. Boyd, 89 Battle Road, Princeton. The ticket price includes a $2.50 tax exempt contribution.

Along with Miss Gish's talk will be a film of excerpts from early classics such as "Birth of a Nation" and "Way Down East."

A reception will be held for Miss Gish after her appearance, and all holders of benefit tickets are invited to attend.

News Of The Theatres

"Firehogs" Lacks Fire. But, somehow, for an American audience at least, the play doesn't catch fire. Program notes compare the takeovers of the Biedermann household by the two arsonists to the totalitarian takeover of a country by fascist elements. To a European, this posh the "Nazi" button.

However, Herr Frisch's message is thrown out of focus in M. Carier's production because a black actor has been cast in the role of Siegfried, the welder-artist. To an American, this can only mean that a black man is moving in to take over a white family, a cheaply sentimental theme which is the subject of a current popular novel.

Presumably the director wanted to make the play more meaningful and indeed vivid to an American audience. But the device serves only to give "The Firehogs" an element of racism which is in very poor taste indeed, and which distorts the underlying theme.

Action Not Lacking. Technically, the play is buoy enough to provide an evening of watching. (The screen, by the way, is out of the line of vision for part of the audience so that you may not always be aware of the change in slides.)

Ironically, we're waiting for the apocalyptic, and they are nicely done, with flashing red and white lights, firemen charging, and down the aisles and so on.

After the fire, comes a superlative epilogue, the kind of thing a playwright facks out to the end because he has a few thoughts left over he didn't know how to fit in. We find the Biedermanns in hell, and who should Satan be but Willi the Firebug, and LILLIAN GISH, as she appeared many years ago in a film role.

Among the actors, Richard Matthews, always a favorite with this reviewer, leaves high comedy to play Biedermann with good, square, straight lines. Willi is Brendan Burke, a master of the coolly wicked role that has a touch of Salton comedy. Ray Aranha makes an exotic figure as Siegfried the welder, but as we said before, the casting is unfortunate.

Tom Brennan has directed. F. Mitchell Dana, who did the lighting, has a rare chance to show us that he is an imaginative and skillful technician.

and Lenny Lipton with "Below

Because of the subject matter of some of the films, the January 14 program is for adults only and persons under 17 will not be admitted.

FROM MOSCOW

With Tchaikovsky. When the Moscow Philharmonic comes to McCarter Theatre on Tuesday, January 29, it will include Tchaikovsky's Symphony Number Four in the program, along with works by Richard Strauss and Nicholas Slonimsky.

The Moscow musicians will open their 21 concert tour of the United States in Carnegie Hall this month under the direction of its musical director Kiril Kondrashin. For the Princeton concert, the orchestra will be led by Yuri Temirkanov, a protégé of the conductor who is sharing the tour's duties with him.

Besides the Tchaikovsky
Fourth, the Moscow Philharmonic will play Strauss' tone poem "Don Juan" and Sinisky's Concerto Bullo for Orencelia.

Tickets are still available at the McCarter box office.

FOR THE CHILDREN

"Paper Bags Back," "Group Soup" will be served out to Princeton's young at two Mc-Carter performances on Saturday, January 21, 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

The waiters and cooks, of course, are the Paper Bag Players, described by the New York Times as "... probably the best children's theater in New York, if not any where."

The Bags have just finished a holiday engagement at Lincoln Center and of course they have been in McCarter before.

Rather than using traditional children's stories, they employ songs, sketches, dances.

PRINCE

John and Mary (now playing) is a love story about a young furniture designer who picks up a girl at Maxwell's Plum in Manhattan's East Sixties and takes her home to bed.

Both have had previous love affairs, and although attracted to each other, they spar cautiously all the following day.
Finally, they decide—24 hours later—to take the plunge and try to establish a meaningful relationship.

What richness and depth the movie has is mostly in the acting. The title roles by Dustin Hoffman and Mia Farrow—two immensely attractive personalities.

GARDEN and ERIC

On Her Majesty's Secret Service (held over) is at least as exotic, sexy and pseudo-violent an array of the six preceding James Bond films. Aus-tan George Lazenby replaces Sean Connery in the title role.

The assignment given to 007
this time is to invade the Alpine headquarters of a scientist (Telly Savalas). Savalas has plenty of gorgeous girls on hand to dazzle the secret agent, girls who will become lethal serpents carriers to subdue the nations of the world.

There are assorted fights, shoot-outs, attacks and counter-attacks as 007 moves in. A word should be said for Diana Rigg, the English actress, who is an intelligent, charming and attractive asset as the first James Bond wife.

PLAYHOUSE

Watch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid (now playing). This is a highly entertaining western, directed with imagination and humor. The performances by Paul Newman, Robert Redford, Katherine Ross, and the rest of the cast are excellent.
There is a continual see-sawing of tension and humor: the threatening violence of the early scene where the saloon-keeper charges Sundance (Redford) with cheating ends in a laugh; what looks like a brutal rape scene turns out to be a caper; a ribald sequence where the prostitute lies on the bed pulling off her stockings winds up with Cassidy (Paul Newman) and Sundance running for their lives.

Violence is kept to a minimum, but when it explodes in the gunfight with the Bolivian bandits (the scene opens with an amusing language problem) it is reminiscent of scenes in "Bonnie and Clyde" and "The Wild Bunch" in its intensity and starkness.

The film is visually beautiful; the fine musical score is by Burt Bacharach.

PEACE IN THE 70's? The chances of obtaining world-wide peace in the 1970s are "nil" in the opinion of Thomas O'Kane. He cites the refusal of the people of the world to sit down and talk with one another as one reason for his pessimism. (Staff Photo)

Question Of The Week

Question: What do you think are the chances of having world-wide peace in the 1970s?
Where asked: Witherspoon Street.

Thomas O'Kane, 145 Spruce Street, salesman for Prince Chevrolet: Nil. Why? Probably for a thousand reasons. . . the different people you have to deal with . . . the Communists won't sit down and talk with you. It's been a year and a half they've been talking in Paris and what have they accomplished? Nothing. I know that peace is the one thing everyone hopes for, but I don't think the chances look very promising, frankly. The best answer is "nil."

Mrs. Louise Morse, 40 Battle Road, housewife: I'm sorry to say this but I think the chances for world-wide peace are dim in the 70s. I think we should call for an immediate cease fire in Vietnam and speed up the end of the war there. This would be a step in the right direction toward world peace.

Grant Schneider, Trevoze, Pa., Rider College student: If you're referring to peace in Vietnam, I think the chances there are fairly good. I don't think world-wide peace will be possible in the 1970's. There are too many places in the world — the Middle East, other Asian countries — where conflicts will likely be breaking out in the future.

Mrs. Bruce LaBar, 67 Locust Lane, housewife: I really don't feel they are much improved over the 1960s. I don't believe withdrawals at present levels will in themselves bring about peace. There has to be some success at the negotiation table — which doesn't seem imminent.

Jeff Cornelius, Morrisville, Pa., student: I tend to be somewhat pessimistic about the chances for world-wide peace. It seems that at least an end to our own involvement in Vietnam is a possibility, but the Middle East situation still seems to be quite up in the air and probably will be for some time.

S. D. MacAtee, 31 Ridgeview Circle, director of personnel for Merck & Co.: Very poor — based on 5,000 years of history.

Mrs. Graeme Killer, Skillman, research editor for writers: There hasn't been a lot of world-wide peace at any time. There's always been a small war somewhere. As far as peace for us, the United States, I think the chances are good.

Mrs. Judith Dermen, Pennington, housewife: Very slim. For example, the Arabs are training their little children to fight the Israelis. In other words, they are not settling back and saying, "They've won this land" and end it. They're planning for conflict for years to come. That's just one example.

Thomas Townsend, Bayberry Road, vice-president, Applied Logic Corp.: I think that achieving peace in the world is the most important thing, the most important goal for thousands of years. But I believe because of the strong nationalistic feelings in other countries — and I don't think the American people understand how strong they are — that it is practically impossible. So many conflicts go back for so long. Israel and the Arabs go back 3,000 years, so I feel the chances are relatively low.

Mrs. R. K. Crawford, Kingston, housewife: Not too good. People haven't been that peaceful in the past and I doubt if they are going to change very much.

Dezler Liverman, 327 Witherspoon Street, PHS student: Very slim. For world-wide peace, everyone has to agree, not just one side. Most people just don't want to accept the fact that some nations don't want peace; they thrive on war.

Ronald Quiry, Norbitage Apartments, Cranbury, student, Princeton Theological Seminary: I feel that there are always going to be tensions in the world just because of the makeup of man. The way the nations are heading . . . take our own country and its actions in Vietnam. Our foreign policy doesn't seem to eliminate a desire for world-wide peace.

Victorian Flourney, Cherry Hill Road, student, Stuart Country Day School: I think it's possible . . . if nations wouldn't be as aggressive as they are, but it seems to be a human trait. It's possible but . . . I'm just glad I don't have any brothers or sons.

Mrs. Howard Eldridge, 48 Park Place, housewife: Maybe it is just wishful thinking but I'd like to hope so. But while I'm hopeful, I'm still skeptical at the same time.

Eric Harsh, 221 Harrison Street, vocational student: Although there may be little tiny conflicts here and there because this is the way it's always been, I think once the war in Vietnam comes to an end, the young people in America, especially those who will be going into politics, will see to it that this nation will never have another Vietnam. I also feel that Red China and some of the other nuclear nations will realize that the thought of using nuclear weapons is so horrible that they will agree they be outlawed.

Green Acres Program, the land should be put at the disposal of the citizens in as many useful ways as possible.

The proposed golf course will scarcely become a reality in less than five years. What better way to use the new "green acres" of Princeton than to study and enjoy the natural plant and bird life in these areas?

Housing Figures Corrected

To the Editor of Town Topics:
This is in reference to a letter written by Alan Carrick to Mrs. Robert E. Danielson of the League of Women Voters, a copy of which appeared in Letters to the Editor last week. Since Mr. Carrick omitted the source of his information as a report especially prepared for the Princeton Housing Authority by the Bureau of the Census in 1961, it is necessary to point out the incorrectness of his figures, and the reason why.

According to Mr. Carrick, total number of deteriorating and dilapidated dwellings in the Borough at the time of the Report was 56. The correct total number as identified in the Report is 122 occupied substandard housing units.

Apparently Mr. Carrick mistakenly extrapolated from one category in his calculations. This category, entitled Condition and Plumbing, classified the entire 122 units into Sound, Deteriorating and Dilapidated, and under each of these headings listed the characteristics which made the units substandard.

Thus, although a unit could be judged structurally sound, the lack of specified plumbing facilities, such as private toilet, piped water, hot water, private bath, etc., obviously would still make it a substandard dwelling. Mr. Carrick used only the figures for the units in this category which, along with lacking certain plumbing facilities, were also listed as dilapidated or deteriorating.

I would also like to point out the reason for the variance in the figures given in this Special Report and those of the 1961 Census, which were used by the League of Women Voters in their Summary of Census Figures on Housing and Population. The figures given by the 1960 Census for the Borough of Princeton were 26 overall deteriorating and 8 dilapidated, a total of 261 substandard housing units. In a true bureaucratic tradition, the criteria established by the two agencies for substandard housing differ. As it is defined as substandard by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, if it is either (1) dilapidated or (2) lacks one or more of specified plumbing facilities, where as the Bureau of the Census includes several additional categories in its definition of deteriorating.

Therefore, when the Special Report was written by the Census Bureau for the Housing Authority, only those pertinent figures were drawn from the Census which would fit the HUD definition of substandard housing for purposes of lease income housing.

Several copies of the Special Report are available at this office for anyone interested in seeing them.

TSC Trustees Defended

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Mr. Farrington and Mr. Morgan, as trustees of Trenton State College, have served honorably during a difficult time. Last year the President was new, the Trustees were in their first full year of operation, the Faculty Senate was new, and the Faculty Association was new in its legal role as bargaining agent for the faculty. Each of these four forces was mandated to assert its special authority and to work effectively with the others. Clearly this would call for skill and patience.

What happened? In July, with half the teaching staff away, 51 members of faculty and administration launched a drive to remove President Heuser. In August the Trustees began their hearing. They collected 1,861 pages of testimony from over 50 witnesses on both sides, and in early October rendered their decision.

Their first point was that Dr. Heuser would remain in office; other points were added to restoring unity, harmony and democratic order. Through this winter semester President Heuser has executed these directives with dignity, reason and good nature despite sustained pressure from the petitioners who would not accept the Trustees' judgment and have done what they could to widen the rift, enlist larger audiences, and recruit more members.

It is regrettable that the 51 petitioners last July embarked on so destructive a venture without due process. The proceedings could have gone through the Faculty Senate with full provision for defense, and cross-examination of witnesses.

The Senate was not in session during the Summer, and when the Senate officers signed the petition on behalf of the Board of Trustees.

The Trustees, then, became responsible for work the faculty had failed to do. For this hard work, and for their courage in delivering a fair and moderate ruling against the pressures of the petitioners, they were even then openly considering a strike! The Trustees have been denounced and picketed with ridiculous signs. They deserve much better.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude and admiration for Mr.

James Floyd, representatives could to widen the rift, enlist larger audiences, and recruit more members.

Having an opportunity to observe them at the Township Committee meeting on December 15th, I was impressed by their separate and joint, quiet yet firm attempts to keep him on his toes before their fellow Committee members and the Township residents in attendance at the meeting.

They were insistent that we all be aware that Princeton is part of urban America and take this into account in every aspect of municipal government. The problem of pollution, they point out, must be considered within the larger national framework, rather than as a problem of neighborhood only. Social issues of our times, such as providing housing for all strata of society, must in their view be a part of all thinking and planning in this town.

They gently but persistently point out the larger reference, the bigger view as each issue or problem comes before the Committee. We owe them a debt of gratitude for their efforts to keep us from being narrow or parochial, urging us to be sensitive at every level, in every dealing, to the larger world of which we are a part.

Art In Princeton

artists are riddled with arrow marks: others are placed in juxtaposition with symbols such as dots, triangles, or squares that strongly indicate religious function for the paintings, most likely as sympathetic magic in a hunting ritual.

A second style, predominant in Eastern Spain, depicts human and animal figures in hunting, fighting, and ceremonial scenes. The figures are usually small. This art, drawn on the exposed walls of rock

Among them is a scene from the shelter of Bermuda that portrays a boat-hunt. The wounded animal fleeing at right is the figure of a deer, shown upside down in relation to the other figures. Elsewhere there are a few and animals that were added at different times, indicating a long and complex ritual use of that particular shelter.

The artist Douglas Mazo nowicz has specialized in the reproduction of prehistoric art since 1959. Many of the fine examples of prehistoric art are difficult or impossible to photograph; others are situated in remote and almost inaccessible sites. Their accurate reproduction, therefore, involves a considerable time at the site, making drawings, taking photographs, making color notes and taking measurements prior to construction of the prints at the studio. The fidelity of these reproductions therefore, becomes more and more important as exposure to the elements and the mutilations of increasing numbers of visitors are rapidly changing the original character of these paintings, the greatest known artistic works of the prehistoric age.

NEW TERM TO START
Monday at Art Association. The Princeton Art Association is now accepting registrations for the winter session which begins Monday. Classes are held at PAA headquarters, 14 Nassau Street, with Mrs. J. B. Smith serving as Classes Chairman.

Do you want to believe in God?

You can. Not just because of what someone says about God. But because of what you yourself can learn and prove about divine Love.

Like the woman who was instantly freed by an assailant one night — when she turned to God in prayer. Or the entertainer whose back was healed through prayer after he was told he couldn't walk without surgery.

These individuals found that divine Love meets even the most challenging human needs . . . that powerful spiritual laws are available for anyone to use.

You can learn more of these laws by reading this week's Bible Lesson.

SPORTS in Princeton

THREE GAMES ON TAP

For Princeton Quinlet, Locomotion for the time being in the Ivy League cellar, strangely unfamiliar surroundings, Princeton's basketball team will play three games in five days before ending the first half of its season.

Harvard will be here Friday night at 8, followed by Dartmouth Saturday evening. Victories in these two contests would enable the Tigers to go into the exam break with a 300 record in both Ivy and overall play. Penn State will be in Jadwin Gym Tuesday for its first appearance here in almost half a century.

Of the two Ivy foes, Dartmouth is markedly the better team. The Indians hold a 100 to 80 victory over Harvard, scored last month at Hanover, and are currently 6-2 on the year, whereas the Crimson is not only well below .500 but has lost to an unimpressive Rutgers quintet.

Eight lettermen and good sophomore material are helping to raise Dartmouth's sights in the sport which it once virtually dominated among the Ivies, although the Green's return to the status of a little threat still appears to be distant. Paul Fierland, a sophomore, is the pick of the new crop, while senior Alex Winn, 6-7, and Captain Greg Pickering, 6-4, are a veteran pair in the starting lineup.

Harvard's chief threat is junior Dale Dover, but the Crimson has been bolstered by the play of sophomore Matt Bozek, a 5-9 guard. Interestingly, the Crimson after all these years has begun to hunt for top basketball players and its current freshman crop is among the best in New England. Since last year's freshmen were 12-3, it is possible that Harvard's basketball team may be on the threshold of a first-division Ivy finish—after 70 years which have seen its teams win less than a third of their league games.

Penn a Clear-cut Victor. In a contest that was never as close as the final score (75-69) sounded, Pennsylvania's tactically-balanced team took charge of Princeton Monday night in Jadwin Gym. Some 6,000 saw the Tigers set a near record for goal foul trouble as the visitors took a 16-point lead toward the end of the opening half and were never in trouble thereafter.

The Orange and Black applied too much pressure at the outset, and the aggressiveness backfired. As early as 3:45, Princeton had drawn its sixth team foul, forward Bob Ryder had three in trying to guard Penn's agile sophomore's borky as the losers were charged Calhoun, and the eventual outcome was already rearing its ugly head.

TIGERS IN CHARGE — BRIEFLY: Sophomore Al Duffy (24), Princeton forward, hit on a jumper and followed with a free throw for a three-point play in first half of Monday night's game against Penn. Quakers dominated the overall action, however, winning, 75-69, as Tigers lost first two Ivy games for first time since 1962. (Stan Lefkowitz Photo)

Princeton enjoyed a 8-2 lead great majority of the time, in the very early going. Co. Quakers had 41 free throws (making 31), to 25 for Princeton, of which it made only 12, and Penn starting a bit cold. But the Tigers' quick foul trouble paved the way for a Quaker or spurt, and as early as 7:29 the Red and Blue drew even, 29-29. It never trailed again. With 3:17 left in the first half, Penn had moved out to a 35-19 lead. Bob Ryder had long since been withdrawn, and sophomore Reg Bird followed him to the bench when he picked up his third, and Hammer likewise had three, though remaining in action. Without him, it's the deluge.

Second Half Closes. Despite its obvious control of the action, Penn turned highly onerous during the final ten minutes. The victors actually went from a freeze to a stall, and when Princeton repeatedly fouled in efforts to gain possession, guard Steve Blysky spent most of the final half at the foul line. He was 15 for 17 and 23 in all on the evening. Once, and briefly, the home team cut its 43-26 halftime deficit to nine points, when it trailed by 60-51 with 6:10, to go. But Penn had the nose, plus Blysky's foul shooting, to stand off any serious threat of an upset.

In the long run, Ryder, Bird and Bill Sackler all fouled out, as the losers were charged with 26 violations to 19 for Penn. Because Princeton was over the six team figure for a

PETRIE TOPS 1,000
As Tiger Trim Rutgers. Shortly before the first half ended against Rutgers in Jadwin Gym Saturday, Jeff Petrie scored a field goal of more than normal interest in what was otherwise a routine Princeton victory. The basket came him in on the day, 142 for the season and exactly 1,000 since his varsity career began here in December, 1967.

He thus became the eighth player who has gone into four figures for the Tigers and unless his latent back injury kicks up again, he is sure to finish third on the list — behind Bill Bradley (2,083) and Pete Campbell (1,451). Petrie went on to make 26 against the Scarlet, and there are 15 games left on the schedule. He can pass Bud Haabestad (1,292) merely by averaging 11 points in the remaining contests, but would have to hit for almost 30 a game to catch Campbell.

Although Rutgers was off to an 8-3 lead, the contest was over before the first half ended, because the visitors hit a prolonged dry spell when they went the final 11 minutes of the period without making a field goal. Accordingly, the Tigers had to do little more than go through the motions to run up a 32-10 lead at the intermission.

INTO FOUR FIGURES: Jeff Petrie, scoring one of his 11 field goals against Rutgers in Saturday's action, propelled his three-year career at Princeton beyond the 1,000-point mark, as Tigers won easily, 75-50. Earlier in the week, Tiger co-captain had been voted Most Valuable Player in the Bruin Classic at Los Angeles. TOWN TOPICS Photo by Bill Williams

When play resumed, Rutgers staged a short-lived rally that cut its deficit from 16 to 10 (35-25) but it came no closer. Petrie began to hit steadily from the outside. Hammer finished with a five for nine performance and throughout most of the final period, the visitors posted double the number of points their stingy defense allowed the Scarlet. With seven minutes to go, it was 63-34, Princeton, and the reserves began to take over. Eventually, by Pete Carril emptied his bench, but the Tigers nonetheless shot a highly respectable 48% from the floor for the afternoon.

Saturday's televised game against Rutgers in Jadwin Gym wrote basketball history in one season; it was the first played in Princeton in which a three-man crew officiated. ECAC policy calls for three officials to run the games that are televised as part of its current winter series. One is stationed directly under the basket to watch which the attacking team is moving; one is in close range at the left, the third is farther back on the right.

The latter is clearly in position to see rules infractions from which the others may be partially screened, particularly on fast breaks. Whether or not the near-total lack of impromptu play in Saturday's game was a factor, the three-man crew operated with maximum efficiency. Whether colleges will agree to pick up a third paycheck all season long is something else again.

Year's Eve, the Tigers could not maintain the pace. They were ahead by eight, 42-34, at half time but the Big Ten quickly took charge thereafter, winning at Ann Arbor, 80 to 72. Petrie hit for 21 in the first 20 minutes and finished with 34 on the evening. However, Hammer got into foul trouble in the second half, picked up his fourth in ten minutes to go, and the Tigers could not operate efficiently when he was withheld from action.

The 5,000 miles the Grange and Black had traveled during the week, and the tremendous peak it had reached emotionally in taking UCLA down to the wire were understandably factors in the loss to Michigan. Los Angeles sportswriters called the game, which went to the Bruins, 76-73, the best ever played in Pauley Pavilion, which proves, if nothing else, that the defense Princeton exhibited in holding high-scoring UCLA to 76 points was an eye opener on the West Coast.

Game Here Saturday at 2. The Ivy League season will open Saturday afternoon at 2 for Princeton's hockey team which began the week still looking for its first victory of the season.

Brown will provide the opposition in Baker Rink, seeking to extend its mastery it has shown over the Tigers in the past two seasons. Princeton last won over the Rhode Island skaters in 1967.

good sophomores, and in mid-December scored one of their biggest victories in history when they upended a highly-regarded Harvard sextet at Cambridge, 4 to 3. They are deep enough to skate four lines, and have a better-than-average defense paced by the veteran Don McGinnis in the goal. Center Curt Bennett is a potential All-American, after being named All-Ivy and All-East as a junior.

They are in the midst of what may be a three-way race for Ivy honors, although they have a long to defending champion Cornell on their own ice at Providence. If Harvard can top the Rhinoceros at Cambridge Saturday, it should be a good scramble for another several weeks.

MIKE MAGUIRE MVP: Mike Maguire of the Hun School was named Most Valuable Player of the Hightstown Invitational Tournament. He scored 51 points in two games, 39 against Hightstown.

Lawrence and Clarkson lacked two more losses on the Princeton record as the Tigers were defeated by the former Friday, 3 to 1, and swamped by powerful Clarkson the next night, 11 to 2.

A trip to Troy to face Rensselaer Polytech was on the schedule Wednesday of this week, with the Tigers hoping they could break into the victory column at the Engineers' expense. They won over R.P.I. here a year ago, 4 to 0. Following Saturday's game with Brown, a two-week break for exams will precede the January 24th meeting with Dartmouth.

HUN THIRD IN TOURNNEY

Mike Maguire Named MVP. With Mike Maguire pouring in 39 points, the Hun School basketball team ended Hightstown last week, 85-82, to finish third in the Hightstown Invitational Christmas Tournament. Maguire, whose free throw in the last five seconds sewed it up for Hun, was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

In the opening matchup, Hun lost to Pemberton, 78-66, after the score had been tied 51-51 at the end of three periods. It was the first loss for the Red and Black, which is now 3-1.

The surprise winner of the tourney was Lawrence High School. Both of its victories were by the slenderest of margins — one point. The Cards upset Hightstown in the opener, 80-79, marking the first time Hightstown had failed to reach the finals in eight years, and then came back to edge Pemberton, 64-63.

Hun will resume league play Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 when it travels to St. Anthony's High School. The Iron Mike's are a newcomer to the Hun schedule.

Against Hightstown, Hun received standout performances by Maguire, who hit for 17 field goals, and by Dirk Whitehead, a hurry 6-2, 250-pound lineman on the undefeated Hun football team. Whitehead scored 22 points to give him six for the tourney. Rich Ziegler and Bill Crawford combined for 17.

Hun led the Rams, 84-78, in the final minutes and seemed to have the outcome wrapped up. But the host team, fighting to avoid finishing last, reeled off the next six to close with in two.

Hun Comes Unglued. Against Pemberton in the opening game, Hun saw its four-point halftime lead disappear at the end of three quarters and then fell apart in the final period to lose, 78-66. It was outscored in that period, 27-15.

"Everything seemed to go wrong in that last quarter," said Hun coach Dave Lette. "It was just a bad night for us." Hun was playing without starter Mike Rossi, who was sidelined with an ankle injury.

Whitehead paced Hun with 24 points. Maguire added 12 and Ziegler 13. Playmaker Lee Jeff Harring, 14 each, and from John Schmidt. The latter's 12 points was his best out of the season.

Nate Darrow scored eight points, Bob Sweeney seven and Walt Porter two to account for all 27 points. Ivan cleared his bench as seven other Little Tigers saw action.

The victory left PHS with a 13 mark in these contests, the defense-minded Blue and White has held its opponents to an average of 18 points per contest. However, PHS, which has been limited to an average of 45 points a game. PHS was scheduled to resume its schedule Tuesday evening at 8 against Lawrenceville High School on the Cardinal's home court.

SEASON OPENS
For PHS Basketball Team. The Princeton Day School basketball team was set to open on Wednesday afternoon in basketball season that may turn out to be very long indeed for the undermanned Panthers. The opening contest was scheduled against Moorestown away, with the first home game on tap Friday afternoon at 3 p.m. against Germantown Friends.

The Blue and White's loss through graduation took away almost all of last year's scoring and rebounding power. Craig Page, who averaged about 23 points per game, is gone, and Calvin Johnson, who hit for 17 and did most of the rebounding, is ineligible due to his age. Also lost are Tom Swann and Ed Cole too other steady performers.

This leaves coach Chan Jones with one senior, captain Randy Martin, who has made good progress in two years on the team. Martin will probably start at one guard spot, with junior Tony Dale on the other side. Carl Jacobelli, the tallest man on the team at 6'4, will open at center. Two sophomores, Steve Black and Carl Rosenburg, are slated for forward spots, and Jones is hoping they'll provide some of the badly needed scoring punch. The squad has held several scrimmages, many with javorce teams in the area. The most notable, Jones reports, was one against the South Hunterdon High School varsity, which won the game, but Jones felt his squad did fairly well at times.

The schedule, much of it new this year as the Panthers are now in the Penn Jersey league, pits PHS against the bigger teams such as Hun, George, and Yorktown, one, and the smaller teams like.

In addition, the Panthers a gain will have a shot at making the season and tournament. Jones commented that the opening game against Moorestown is a real close to PHS in size and ability, would tell a lot about the rest of the season.

PLAY TO RESUME

For PHS Sextet. After resting on the laurels of its first tournament victory in New England over the Christmas holidays, the Princeton Day School hockey team was scheduled to put its unbeaten streak on the line Wednesday afternoon against Cranford Hockey. The Panthers are 3-0. Saturday the Panthers will go against Lawrenceville at Laying Rock. The Larcies are off to a somewhat slow start this year, finishing seventh in their own tournament, albeit against tough competition, but they will most likely give PHS a stiff battle in this strong rivalry.

PHS AT WISSAHICKON

In hockey. For the holiday recess, the Princeton High School hockey team will take to the ice again Thursday evening at 6 against the Wissahickon Hockey Club in Pennsylvania.

In two contests last month, coach Dan McGuire's Little Tigers defeated Brick Tuxen ship and lost to Cranford.

MAUNEY IS HONORED

Awarded NCAA Scholarship. Keith Mauney started all 27 games of his varsity career on Princeton's football team, has been awarded a $1000 NCAA scholarship for post-graduate study. He is one of 11 college seniors in the Princeton Division so honored for combining gridiron proficiency with classroom excellence.

Mauney is an honor student in the Sociology Department at Princeton and a resident of North Babylon, L.I. His proficiency as a tackler, pass defender and punt return specialist won him membership on the All-Ivy team selected by the coaches for the past two seasons; this past fall, he was one of two unanimous selections.

In the three seasons, Mauney intercepted 10 passes, returning them for a total of 200 yards and one touchdown. He tallied 10 punt returns for an average yardage of more than 10 yards—figures which indicate a major problem in replacement next fall for Coach Jake McCondees.

Mauney is one of relatively few two sport athletes at Princeton. Next spring, he will conclude his career as a mid-fielder on the Tiger lacrosse team.

MOSS TO LEAVE WIIWH

Morris Named Station Manager. David A. Moss, vice president and general manager of WIIWH, will leave the Princeton radio station in early February to become general manager of WFAS, White Plains, N.Y.

Well known for his play-by-play broadcasts of Princeton University football and basketball games, Mr. Moss has been general manager of WIIWH since the inception of the station in 1963. He will do all the remaining broadcasts of the Tigers' current basketball season.

John J. Morris, general sales manager, has been promoted to station manager. Mr. Morris, who joined WIIWH in 1964 as a salesman will report to Herbert W. Hober, president of the Nassau Broadcasting Company, who will also function as general manager when Mr. Moss leaves.

Prior to joining WIIWH, Mr. Morris worked for the American Forces Radio Network in Europe as a special events director for several years. He is currently president of the Princeton Kiwanis, an incorporator of the Hamilton State Bank, a member of BOPE 1995 in Hightstown, and a member of the Overseas Press Club. He lives in Yardville with his wife and four children.

INTEREST RATE RAISED

By Nassau Savings. The Board of Directors of the Nassau Savings and Loan Association has announced a rate increase on regular passbook savings accounts to 4 1/2% a year, compounded quarterly, the highest interest rate paid on regular savings in the Princeton area. The new rate is anticipated for the period beginning January 1, 1970.

Walter B. Foster, Jr., association president, reported that "The growth of Nassau Savings over this past year has During our many years of service to the people of Princeton and the surrounding area, we have paid millions of dollars in untaxed earnings, at the highest possible rates consistent with the sound and prudent management of those funds entrusted to us — and this shall continue to be our policy. We extend a sincere thank you to our many members and friends who have made our continued growth and this rate increase possible."

In addition to the new, higher interest on regular passbook accounts, Nassau Savings also

Mayor Cawley Looks at the 70's in New Year's Day Address

(Following is the text of the address given by Robert W. Cawley on New Year's Day following his induction as Mayor of the Borough of Princeton)

As we stand here at the start of a new decade, I'm struck by the contrast between the high optimism voiced by some elements of society, and the deep pessimism heard elsewhere.

Science seems particularly optimistic. The American Electrical and Electronics Engineers is dedicating its 1970 convention, "Looking for the Spectacular Seventies." The life sciences and medicine also promise new wonders. The 1969 moon landing will be hard to top, but plans for manned trips to Mars are under consideration.

In contrast we have many thoughtful U.S. citizens wondering whether New York City can ever be managed, and whether our nation can become a truly united society by breaking down the current schisms between black and white and between youth and their elders. Considering Princeton in the next ten years, I feel that the high optimism of science nor deep pessimism. Over the last few years it is clear that municipal government is facing new challenges.

Princeton Borough has in a small way many of the problems found in cities. Preserving the economic, cultural and central business district and maintaining our older homes in good shape are a heavy burden. Pressures in surrounding communities are a major factor. However, here basic problems should be manageable.

Forces of Change Felt. In addition, we here feel the forces of change that are sweeping through our society. The effects on youth have been most noticeable. Student unrest, the moratorium, youth problems, a general decline in respect for authority have characterized recent years. Some of these are merely part of the passing parade.

Some student unrest is, I'm sure, totally unconnected with the pranks that stimulated the formation of the Borough many years ago as a means of gaining police protection. Some actions — like young people pointing out the difference between the identity of our stated goals and the far from ideal realities of our situation — are healthy and should be encouraged, painful though they may be.

I am favorably impressed by the general number and variety of youth activities available in Princeton. However, the pace of change and need to continuously re-evaluate needs for new kinds of programs.

Borough leaders in recent years have made substantial commitments to youth programs. The Joint Recreation Board with its community park complex and support of the youth center are two.

Further Action on Drugs. The drug forum last fall that resulted in a commitment on the part of Borough government to solve the drug abuse problem, I expect, that there will be further Borough government involvement in the coming year.

We have a long standing need to get more of our black citizens involved in the main stream of our community. We find a way to help and yet at the same time avoid that help being a detriment to the development of self respect is difficult. The Joint Civil Rights Council and the Summer Jobs Program are two Borough sponsored instruments to help.

What I've said so far with its emphasis on human problems and their solution leads me to predict that the seventies will see a continuation of the trend toward Borough government getting involved more and more often in services beyond the standard one of police, fire, health, and public works. The rapid pace of change in our society is creating new problems — or new faces on old problems — so fast that existing institutions have difficulty in establishing the required services. I expect Borough Government to step into such gaps. Personally, I think that this municipal government action proper, but it should only be of temporary duration and be catalytic in nature. Existing institutions — first private, voluntary agencies — should be encouraged to move in as rapidly as possible.

Aid for Business Pledged. One of the critical areas for government services will be the central business district and the areas immediately surrounding it. It is obvious that even with growth restrictions of the zoning ordinance, that growth is rapid and it is straining parking, traffic and transportation facilities. Some relief is needed and finding solutions will be given a high priority. Associated with those particular problems in the business district is the concern for the ultimate use of the lightly developed land remaining — that land now used for parking. The PCB Middle Income Housing Project, which will surely come up again here through government in 1970, adds emphasis to the clear fact that this land is a valuable, but fast becoming scarce resource and it must be used wisely, so that all the needs of that downtown area can be satisfied.

Many people have expressed concern about tax-payer relations. In some circles people it is fashionable to be generally critical of Princeton University, but, I feel that the situation that prevailed when the Borough was first formed still prevails today with respect to the University.

This is that the unique character of our community derives largely because of Princeton University and other local educational institutions. This is still true although the Borough and the educational institutions are both much larger.

Compromises Anticipated. I am personally convinced that a commitment on many individuals in these various situations want to help in a variety of community activities. I welcome their help. There are of course problems that the University in particular poses for the community.

I feel we should present our Borough viewpoint forcefully to our community. However, we will not win them all. On some items we may ultimately be forced to decide. Looking only a couple of years into the future, one of the major projects for Princeton Borough will be the Regional Sewerage Authority.

When Borough approval is given, the Authority will go forward on final engineering plans. Hopefully, construction will start sometime before the year's end — with completion for 1971 or 1972.

It is important that every one realize that this particular project will bring increased costs which will be passed on to Borough residents. The increase is inevitable. If instead of the Regional Sewerage Authority, the Township, Borough or the County were to expand and improve the present Sewerage Plant, as is even now so obviously necessary, the cost would be much higher.

The Recreation Board has recently published exciting plans for the future development of additional space in the expanding community park. The final results should be an outstanding collection of recreation facilities that offer something for everyone. The Borough Government will be looking through the Recreation Board to see that these plans go forward smoothly.

Regional Planning in Force. On the first of January, we expect that the new Regional Planning Board will become an official organized and operating. There will be undoubtedly many organizations and individuals to be involved in the coming months, but the membership of the Board is committed to the idea that this is one community and regional planning is required.

The plan for the entire community. Although, all the various subcommittees have not as yet been set, two of the major areas of concern which will get attention are planning for the central business district and planning for parking, traffic and transportation. These will get top priority.

Municipal government in New Jersey enters the seventies with a tax system that is strained to the breaking point. It is clear that tax base will continue to increase. And the services that these taxes provide in the schools in the county, and in local municipality are needed.

In fact, there are undoubtedly things that ought to be done that are not being done chiefly because those responsible for such of these institutions are sincerely interested in keeping the taxes as low as the possibly can. Perhaps relief in the form of a state revision in tax law is on the way. Certainly I support it. But surely it will take some time — and during that time all of us concerned with government, both officials and taxpayers alike, must be patient and understanding. We cannot fail to provide needed services.

After mentioning problems and solutions, I should like to mention the people who will be working on them.

In a way it seems a bit strange to recognize that mine is the only new face here, but I feel very confident in knowing I will be working with a veteran group. I welcome the continued Council service of Charles Comforth and Robert Hendry, our finance experts.

Praise for Patterson. Just a word about Henry Patterson, who leaves the Borough after eight years of outstanding service as Mayor. It's clear that under his leadership, the Borough has moved ahead in tangible works with the Library, Borough Hall, Housing for the Elderly, the Community Park Recreation Center, and the realigned streets adjacent to the central business district.

But I think it may turn out that his term of office will be remembered more as a period of leadership in confronting some of the difficult human problems that I mentioned earlier, like drug abuse, civil rights, and special youth needs. I think Henry and his colleagues had the wisdom to see that commitment from municipal government to solve these problems was necessary certainly this commitment was made. Henry provided direction for the 70's, a direction for which we should all be thankful.

Coming into office I have been very favorably impressed by the thoroughness and competence I've found on the Council and on the various boards. We are fortunate to have such dedicated volunteers.

The Borough Hall employees headed by Robert F. Mooney provide matching qualities of abilities and experience for which the public and the volunteer officials who depend on their services can be truly thankful. With such resources available, we in Princeton Borough surely can be optimistic — in a realistic manner. I say, it's true — but truly optimistic about the seventies.

Princeton Borough has in a small way many of the problems found in cities. Preserving the economic, cultural and central business district and maintaining our older homes in good shape are a heavy burden. Pressures in surrounding communities are a major factor. However, here basic problems should be manageable.

ANABLE - EVERETT

REALTY

Now that the Holidays are over, the Winter blues are setting in — look out for "Cabin Fever," that cramped, congested feeling from lack of space in the small home, apartment or motel room.

Dream of enjoying a barbeque on the screened patio—smell the steaks cooking? You can almost hear the grass growing. The flowers are budding and the leaves on the trees are beginning to appear. The sun is warm. June in January, sure, it's all a matter of attitude.

Shake that grumpy feeling. If you are looking for a home, have one for sale or just want to talk real estate, give us a call.

Here is a new listing with a "Florida" room. Newly decorated nine room split level. 3 Bedrooms, 2 baths, 2 car attached garage and on a beautifully landscaped corner lot. Air conditioned, paneled family room with bar, many extras. Excellent for commuting.

Offered at $36,900
